as seen in the chart above, success in childbearing, using her own eggs, decreases significantly in these older age brackets.

these decisions can be challenging because the goal of treatment is to prevent severe bleeding, but the risk of bleeding can be difficult to estimate for any individual patient.