perhaps the principal factor which prevents change is the belief that people are less likely to complain about a system which has been hallowed by time.

also, common drugs such as caffeine or alcohol can induce restless leg syndrome.

the most serious side effects are usually due to damage to the heart.